Mind and Muscle
Germanic Blood
Advice to Ethel
Pity Investing Widows

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

GENE TUNNEY, retired world champion, dined and praised by literary celebrities and respectable British nobility, says, "I don't know why you make such a fuss over me. What is boxing? The ability to co-ordinate mind and muscle at a critical moment, that is all."

That will send his ex-manager, Mr. Gibson to the dictionary.

Boxing today is nothing; 12,000 years ago co-ordination of mind and muscle meant the difference between life and death.

Now what counts is co-ordination between mind and mechanism of an "automatic" or an airplane.

Germanic blood possesses lasting energy. Von Hindenburg, president of the German republic, past 80, goes hunting chamois in the high mountains. It is dangerous, difficult sport, even for young men, chasing those small goats.

President Hainisch, of Austria, is running for a third term. He is 70 years old, and his mother, EIGHTY-NINE YEARS OLD, is campaigning for him.

Her son doesn't want a third term, but she, president of the Austrian Feminist party, thinks it is his duty to keep on working.

A fine young American, Ethel Hertle, won Mr. Wrigley's tenmile swim for women and his $10,000, defeating fifty-three other women including the channel marvel, Gertrude Ederle, in 5 hours, 24 minutes, 36 seconds. A fine achievement. BUT those swimming young women are not using their energy as Providence and Nature want it used.

Miss Ethel Hertle should stop long distance swimming, find a worthy young man of the right type, thin body, a big head, good brain, kind heart, earnest, ambitious, sincere. Then Ethel Hertle should marry him, putting her mind on Nancy Hanks, whose championship was represented by Abraham Lincoln.

Wrigley should offer $100,000 for the best baby.

Government agents announced that A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University, was swindled out of $70,000 in a land fraud.

"Other distinguished and intelligent men were also victims."

If lying letters and prospectuses can get $70,000 from the president of Harvard, what chance has a poor widow seeking to increase her small inheritance?

No woman should buy land unless she has seen it and has the approving opinions of three business men not interested in the sale. And this is not written by a real estate thorist.

As he travels about Wisconsin, looking for bigger trout, President Coolidge sees booming young Senator La Follette a sign reading: "Which shall rule, wealth or man; which shall lead, money or intellect; who shall fill public station, educated and patriotic free men, or the feudal servants of corporate capital?

To the question, "Wealth or man," the answer is BOTH. The man with the wealth rules, as he has always done, partly because the other men want part

FULLER HIRES ADLOW TO FIGHT AUTO BOOST

FATHER DIES BY NOOSE AS BRUTAL SLAYER OF LYNNFIELD DAUGHTER

Walla Walla, Wash., Aug. 31 (AP)—Wallace C. Gaines was hanged at dawn today in the State Penitentiary here for the murder of his 22-year-old daughter, Sylvia, in Seattle two years ago.

A last minute plea to save Gaines from the gallows was telegraphed to Governor Hartley.

Gaines spent his last hours in his death cell with Frank Novak, Seattle evangelist. It was reported that he talked almost incoherently to the evangelist of his murdered daughter.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gaines and Wallen Gaines, his wife and brother, in final plea for a stay of execution, told the Governor that it lay in his hands to save an innocent man from death.

As the death hour neared the telegraph office reported Governor Hartley could not be reached and said the telegram could be delivered before 4 o'clock (Pacific Coast time).

That was the hour of Gaines doom.

Gaines went to his death protesting his innocence and unforgiving toward those who had prose-

Ideal Weather Due to Last Through Labor Day

Ideal conditions are due today, with fair, cool weather even predicted for this section by the weather bureau today.

August passes into history with the record of 10 days during which the official mercury reached 90 or higher, the maximum of yesterday, the final day of the heat wave, being 93. The temperature at 9 o'clock today was 69 degrees, as compared to 77 at the same hour yesterday, and the mercury had climbed only 1 degree at noon, whereas 24 hours ago it registered 93.

GOVERNOR TO BATTLE IN COURT AGAINST AUTO INSURANCE RATE BOOST

Governor Fuller announced today that he would fight the auto insurance rate boost in court, if the new rates are officially put into effect tomorrow by Insurance Commissioner Wesley E. Monk.

In doing so the Governor will act nominally in his capacity as a private citizen, but actually as the defender of the people's interests.

He said that he had already retained ex-Representative Elijah Adlow, formerly his personal spokesman in the Legislature and more recently legislative counsel for the city of Boston, to conduct the court battle against the increases.

Governor Fuller has, moreover, instructed Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner to do everything in his power to prevent the insurance commissioner from promulgating the new rates.

Foreseeing failure in this, in view of Commissioner Monk's assertions that he will "stand by his guns," and realizing that in case of a court fight the Attorney-General, in spite of his opposition to the new rates, must defend the Insurance commissioner in court, the Governor has

TUNNEY AND WALES IN CHAT

London, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Prince of Wales had a 15-minute chat with Gene Tunney at St. James' Palace today. The meeting between the two was purely informal.

The prince, knowing that the retired champion was staying in London, made the suggestion that Tunney drop in for a few minutes' talk.

Gene took the opportunity today and talked with the heir apparent on a variety of subjects.

Wales mentioned offhand the name and home of Tunney's fiancee and expressed his best wishes for the happiness of the couple.

Sir Godfrey Thomas, secretary to the Prince, arranged the interview. He was a guest at the dinner the night before last where Tunney made such a favorable impression on a number of prominent Britons as a man and an orator.

William Powell, a member of Tunney's party, accompanied him to the palace and talked with Sir Godfrey while their superiors were conversing in another room.

It was stated that today's conversation was substituted for the projected golf match between the Prince and the retired champion.

6 CHILDREN IN NEWTON FAMILY HIT BY PLAGUE

Six children in the family of James Murphy, Walnut st., Newton Highlands, are in Newton Hospital today suffering from infantile paralysis.

Two remaining children in the family are sick and suspected of having the dread scourge.

State and city health board officials summoned in hasty conference termed the family outbreak the strangest ever recorded in Massachusetts.

All six in the hospital are in serious condition, suffering one form of paralysis, or another. They are between the ages of 1 and 17, inclusive.

Other children reported ill in the Walnut st. neighborhood were visited today by physicians of the State Health Department and the Newton Board of Health, following a conference at the Newton Hospital.

EUGENIC FATHER FLEES WRATH OF TWO WOMEN

New York, Aug. 31—Even jaded Jimmy Broadway, got a jolt out of a police announcement today that the marvelous miracle of magnificent manhood, Capt. Marc Michalkovitch Medveleff, was a fugitive, having fled from the wrath of two women on his trail.

So angry are these two women, one his wife and one a former sweetheart, that they intend to "cover him with suits" in the New York courts, in retaliation for his divorce action.

Boris Torchinsky, husband of the former sweetheart, also appeared on the scene as a Nemesis, saying he wanted to press a charge of assault against the herculean Adonis, self-styled father of the eugenic baby

ITALY RAPS KELLOGG TREATY AS USELESS

Milan, Italy, Aug. 31 (AP)—Signature of the Kellogg-Briand treaty was "a platonic, respectable gesture, but will have no influence in the course of history," declared Arnaldo Mussolini, brother of the Premier, in a speech to officers of the Fascist militia during recent military maneuvers.

"There is no need to laugh at this act, signed with much solemnity by various great powers. Italy included," the speaker said, "but it we want it to be sincere and also severe we must say that there is in this Kellogg pact and in manifestations for its signature a mutual bantering with much rhetoric and transparent insincerity.

"If we want to be benevolent in our judgment we can say that having signed the pact at Paris in the capital of a people which for four fifths of the last 100 years have been ever making war, it was a platonic gesture. BROWN PROFESSOR IS SWINDLED OF $100,000

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—A stock swindle, which is said to have caused a $100,000 loss to Prof. A. E. Rand of Brown University, Providence, R. I., is under investigation by the Postoffice Department, and rewards of $500 each for the arrest of Robert B. Webster and C. Thomas Mitchell have been offered.

The swindlers learned that Professor Rand owned a block of preferred stock in an Eastern firm last March. Then they wrote to him, telling him the concern would be reorganized and that each of his shares might be converted into a share and a quarter of common stock paying a guaranteed dividend of 7 per cent. A personal interview, at which the men appeared and obtained the stock completed the deal, they quickly disappeared.

Postoffice inspectors said the men had records with the department and that they used several aliases.

GOV. FULLER OPENS BATTLE ON AUTO INSURANCE RATE BOOST

RETAINS ADLOW AS COUNSEL

planned his own personal action with his own attorney.

Virtually nothing can prevent Commissioner Monk from officially announcing the new schedules tomorrow, the last day on which he has to do so, according to the law.

When he does so, the highly boosted rates become official for 1928, except that, within 20 days, any private citizen can request the Supreme Court for a review. This is what Governor Fuller plans to do.

Made through his secretary, Herman A. MacDonald, the Chief Executive's terse announcement was as follows:

EXECUTIVE STATEMENT

"Governor Fuller has requested the Attorney-General to do everything possible in the interests of the public to prevent the proposed increase in motor vehicle insurance rates.

"The Governor also has personally retained Elijah Adlow, Esq., to fight the increased rates, if they are announced and put into effect as proposed September 1."

Atty-Gen. Warner, who had written to Monk in caustic terms, urging him to refrain from promulgating the new rates, went today to the commissioner's office to argue verbally, without having given Monk time to reply.

Monk was still defiant when this conference ended and said that he would put the new rates into effect tomorrow at 10 o'clock, "if I am still commissioner."

It was said unofficially by those in touch with Governor Fuller that he would not "fire" Monk, believing that step too drastic and leaving him open to the accusation of being arbitrary and autocratic. He wants to fight out the matter on its merits.

A bill relieving him of the broad powers that he now has with regard to auto insurance rates, and bestowing these powers on a commission of three members appointed by the Governor, has been prepared by Commissioner Monk and will be filed immediately with the clerk of the State Senate.

Asked why he had not turned over to Attorney-General Warner his data relating to frauds perpetrated by lawyers and doctors with regard to compulsory liability insurance claims, Commissioner Monk said:

WHAT MONK SAYS.

"I shall give this data to the attorney-general as soon as possible, but for the moment that appears to me to be a side issue.

"My answer to the attorney-general's request to continue the 1928 rates for the present has already been given in my reply to Lieut.-Gov. Allen. As to what his duties are with regard to defending me and the new rates in court, I don't care to make any comment.

"The new rates will be established tomorrow if I am still commissioner. You newspapermen are more in touch with the general situation, and know what likelihood there is of my being removed from office before than I do. The law compels me to establish next year's rates by September 1 and that I shall do.

"I wish to say that I am in favor of the question being brought into court, as that is the orderly procedure specified by the insurance law.

"As for my legislative bill, placing in a commission of three the who has all three."

powers now reposing in me, I prepared this bill because I do not believe it right for any single commissioner to be given full responsibility where so many divergent interests are concerned and of such a serious nature, subjecting the individual to charges and statements of all kinds that can be made against him by anybody."

Rep. Thomas J. Kennedy, who called on Commissioner Monk today, said afterwards that, in the event that the rate boost is promulgated, he would file a bill for the State to take over compulsory auto insurance.

"I am in better spirits now than I was when under 50," said Herbert N. Hanson, 63-year-old assistant postmaster of Boston, who last April celebrated his golden jubilee in the postal service.

"My work is better than it was 20 years ago," he continued. "I have more pep and my energy is greater since I passed the 59 mark. I intend to keep on enjoying life more and more until the second 50 comes in sight."

"In a way, life is just beginning at 50," said Immigration Commissioner Mrs. Anna Tillinghast. "I think a person is in his prime at 50. He has a broader vision of life and is in a better position to enjoy life and render service by reason of experience."

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, a leader of Boston's "Four Hundred," and head of the State of Massachusetts' Americanization Bureau, said: "I'd hate to think my life was over. Whether life is over at 50 for anyone depends upon their health, enthusiasm and interest in life. I do not think life is over for anyone

When 'Fearless Eugenic Dad' Cowered From Wife's Attack

THE ONE HE FEARS

Mrs. Marc Medvedeff was held by policemen while two other bluecoats crammed her husband, self-styled father of the "eugenic baby," into a waiting taxi. His wife was waiting for him when Marc left his lawyer's office.

A FEW MINUTES AFTER "I'M NOT AFRAID OF ANYBODY"

Marc Medvedeff was revealing to the world his claim to the paternity of Grace Mailhouse Burnham's "eugenic baby" when a reporter asked the strong man this vital question: "Are you afraid of your wife?" Marc leaped to his feet. "I am not afraid of anybody," he thundered, and a few minutes later policemen saved him from an attack from his wife as he left the building.

Fuller Attitude Is Cited to Monk by Warner

"I am impressed with the fact that Governor Fuller and Lieutenant-Governor Allen have urged you to let the rates stand as they are at present. It would be unfortunate if the judgment of these men were disregarded at this particular time."—From Attorney General's letter to Commissioner Monk.

cuted him. His walked unaided to the gallows.

Evangelist Novak, who was closeted with Gaines until the end, said he would make a statement as soon as he had recovered from the ordeal.

In a final statement, made public by his wife, Gaines concluded:

"I do not forgive the friends who are the cause of taking an innocent man's life, and know that they will be unable to suffer for the anguish punishment they have inflicted upon my family. They will pay dearly for this outrage on earth and in the hereafter, for their sins will find them out."

The murder of Miss Gaines, a graduate of Smith College and daughter of Gaines by his first wife, now Mrs. L. E. Maynard of Lynnfield, Mass., occurred on the night of June 16, 1926.

The girl disappeared from her home about 8 o'clock that night and the next day her mutilated body was found on the shore of Green Lake.

Testimony was offered at Gaines' trial that his daughter had been the object of his "strange affections," and that when she attempted to break the relationship, he killed her while he was drunk. Gaines' present wife testified there was nothing strange in his affection for the girl.

Gaines offered as an alibi testimony that he was with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sterns, friends, at the time of the slaying. The Sterns corroborated his story.

After Gaines' conviction there followed two years of legal maneuvering to save him from the gallows. These moves included an appeal to the United States Supreme Court and petitions for clemency to Governor R. H. Hartley.

TRAIN RACERS BARRED HERE BY PARKER

declared he bet $50 he could beat the train.

The registrar has called a meeting at which Hollis must show cause why his car registration should not be revoked.

Neff will ask why his registration should not be suspended here.

The registrar has written the registration commissioners of Rhode Island and Connecticut, recommending similar action against the Neffs as that taken here.

He has written the registration commissioner of New York recommending revocation of the Neff's car and suspension of their driving licenses.

In addition, the registrar of motor vehicles assigned some of his inspectors to the case today and will attempt, he said, to press criminal charges in connection with the race.

The nimble Neffs were elated when they pulled up in front of the Copley-Plaza Hotel and announced that they had won the races from New York, their age-domaier reading 83 miles an hour at times.

To quiet the skeptics, they made sure the time of their arrival was registered at the hotel and that they received a stamped time card.

But they admitted they had secured no such time card when departing New York at 5 p. m. to begin their race.

According to Neff, who is an advertising man in New York, they made the best time between New Haven and Providence, never going below 70 miles an hour and sometimes as high as 83 miles.

On rain-wet roads from Providence to Boston they hit as high as 60 miles an hour, Neff declared.

By a remarkable coincidence, according to Neff, they were never tied up in a traffic jam.

But Registrar Parker provided the "jam" today.

born to Mrs. Grace Mailhouse Burnham last January.

Still other woes crowded on the vanished heels of the former Russian army captain, Medvedeff, late circus strong man and discus thrower, and still later artist's model.

Mrs. Burnham announced that Medvedeff "was crazy" and that his paternity statement was false.

News leaked out that Mrs. Medvedeff, formerly of Holyoke, Mass., had twice smacked the captain in the corridor of an office building, shortly before he disappeared, and that she might repeat if he meets him again.

Torchinsky was also looking for revenge, police said. Torchinsky accused Medvedeff of stealing the affections of Mrs. Torchinsky.

WANTS HUSBAND PUNISHED

The latter, 31, and weighing 250 pounds, added to the sea of troubles about the missing captain by accusing him of signaling that together they use the "eugenic baby" story to his advantage.

She also accused him of "holding her up"—meaning Mrs. Torchinsky—with a toy pistol after she had quit him, she said.

"Then he took some of my papers and money," she added.

Angry though she was, her ire was nothing compared to that of Mrs. Medvedeff, police announced. She was quoted as having complained against him on a charge of non-support; and as having declared she wanted the law to exact a penalty from him for his treatment of her.

Mrs. Medvedeff and Mrs. Torchinsky may pool their interests in prosecuting the captain—if they find him, police stated.

May Lose Right to Call His Daughter by Name

Reaping the whirlwind which he sowed when he threw caution to the winds in claiming fatherhood to Mrs. Grace Mailhouse Burnham's "eugenic baby" Captain Marc Michailovitch Medvedeff may lose even the right to call his legitimate daughter by his name.

The "perfect specimen's" mother-in-law intends to give the child the name of Kantrovitch as a protection against the claims Captain Marc Adonis father invited when he branded her as "a half sister to a brat."

"From this day forth little Carolyn shall never again have the name of Medvedeff. She is now a Kantrovitch."

Out of a grandmother's broken heart this bitter decree poured today as Captain Medvedeff's story perplexities took another turn in that where his mother-in-law lives in Holyoke.

"Oh, I wish I could fly away to some hidden spot and die before this innocent baby learns what will always be known up to her after this scandalous publicity," Mrs. Kantrovitch cried. "I am broken hearted and worried and sick over the sudden illness of the baby who has run up a temperature for 36 hours now with a cold she got during the extreme heat. Neither she nor I have slept much for the last two nights and my nerves are all on edge."

A physician was called for the child last night.

"Shall you take steps to legally change Carolyn's surname?"

"Yes," replied Mrs. Kantrovitch. "My son-in-law has disgraced a proud Russian name. His father was a respected army officer. When my husband and I read of Mrs. Mrs. Burnham's baby last winter we remarked how thankful we ought to be that this baby had a clean, honorable name, little dreaming that her life would be shadowed by the same tragedy that will always pursue the poor little Burnham baby girl. How can a woman expect to defy successfully the customs of the whole world regarding birth?"

UNDER DOUBLE STRAIN

Mrs. Kantrovitch paced the floor trying to control nerves cracking under the double strain of Carolyn's illness and the publicity which the filing of Captain Medvedeff's suit for divorce against her daughter, Sifera in New York has evoked. She is highly esteemed by all who know her as a woman of superior breeding and intellect to whom her grandchild clings with an intense love very remarkable in a child so young.

"As long as I live, this child shall be shielded from this ghastly thing," Mrs. Kantrovitch reiterated. "I suppose millions of women have borne similar trials, but it is bitter to think what this may mean to this helpless little girl. She has taken the place of my own two children in my heart, since they both left to be married. It is cruel and wicked to bring this disgrace upon her. Can anyone blame her mother for wanting to throttle the man who did this?"

Mrs. Kantrovitch said that she expected her daughter to show her self a real Kantrovitch by living down the disgrace and continuing to support herself either as a pianist or as a good saleswoman.

SEEK SHARE OF $75,000 LEFT BY PRIEST

An international dispute over $75,000 left by the late Rev. Thomas C. O'Connor of Adams was revealed today by suit filed in federal court, together with a petition for an injunction against his sister and 16 Massachusetts savings banks.

The suit was filed in behalf of five cousins of Fr. O'Connor, all residents of England. The respondents are Miss Belinda O'Connor of Adams and William W. Peace of Adams, administrator of the estate.

The papers in the suit cite that when Fr. O'Connor died he had $75,000 deposited in 15 different banks in Massachusetts. He died without making a will, and, it is alleged, the money was taken over by Miss Belinda O'Connor and another sister, Fannie, the latter a nun in a Chicopee convent, who later relinquished her claim.

The English relatives seek a share of the estate and ask to have the Adams woman restrained from using the money, and they seek to hold the banks liable for paying the deposits over to her in case the total of $75,000 is not now intact.

WEDDING HERE, ORGANIST IN SWITZERLAND

Celigny, Switzerland, Aug. 31 (AP)—The radio telephone is to be called into unusual use tomorrow when it will be used to transmit the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played in Switzerland, across the Atlantic for a wedding in Manchester, Mass.

When Miss Annie Gulen Dennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dennett, is wed tomorrow afternoon, at Manchester, to William Chase Paulton of the Coldstream Guards, Ernest Schelling, noted pianist, will sit at his piano in his villa and play the famous Mendelssohn march.

The music will pass over a telephone wire to London and thence by radiophone to Manchester, where it will be amplified so that all the guests can hear it as the wedding procession starts.

Schelling, a pupil of Paderewski, is an American citizen of Swiss origin.

MARINES KILL 2 REBELS IN NICARAGUA BATTLE

Managua, Nic., Aug. 31 (AP)—Two Sandinistas were killed, one wounded and five captured when a patrol of 12 marines led by Capt. George F. Stockes routed a band of 40 rebels who tried to ambush the marines near Macuelizo Tuesday. There was no casualties among the marines, Capt. Stockes gave the news to airplanes flying low over his encampment, by means of messages printed on a large panel spread upon the ground.

To avert disturbances in connection with the Presidential elections November 4, sale and possession of distilled liquor will be prohibited throughout Nicaragua during the registration and voting period.

Japs to Leave Manchuria

Tokyo, Aug. 31 (AP)—Orders have been issued for withdrawal from Manchuria of the Fourth mixed brigade which was sent there from Korea last month.

IT'S NO OFFICIAL AFFAIR IF BOY, 3, SMOKES

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Smoking of cigars by Bobbie Quigley, three, is no business of the board of public welfare.

Bobbie smokes daily, but he does not inhale. The family, after consulting a physician, decided it permitted to have his own way he would overcome the desire. A welfare official visited the home and reported all the children, including Bobbie, healthy and saw no reason for intervening in a family affair.

SPANKING WON'T CURE HIM
Now that the flappers aren't so wild, it's the cradle parents must watch. Behold the terrible example of Bobbie Quigley, 3 years old, of Washington. Spankings fail to cure his horrible appetite for cigars—bigger and blacker the better.

Life Rich in Interest After 50—Mrs. Guild

Is life—the enjoyment of life—over at 50?

Or is it, perhaps, just beginning?

Ethel Barrymore, actress extraordinary, and Arthur Brisbane, famous editor and author of the "Today" column in the Boston Evening American, have started a discussion that, like the ripples in a pool, is widening and widening, engulfing a host of the distinguished who have passed the zenith age of life.

Celebrating her 49th birthday, the actress remarked that she was "enjoying life as much as ever."

Brisbane, as he has a habit of doing, seized upon this remark to drive home a lesson. "She ought to be enjoying life MORE than ever," he wrote.

So the discussion began and a number of the great and near-great who have passed the half-century mark came forward to express their own views. For the most part it seems that Brisbane was correct.

Mrs. Curtis Guild, widow of a Massachusetts governor and one of Boston's most distinguished women, is more than 50 years of age. She has this to say:

"Life certainly is not over at 50. I feel strongly that when youth goes age has its compensations—and memories. There is a great deal in life for persons who are interested in life and in other people.

"As one grows older and youth departs there is a great deal in life if we know how to take advantage of it.

"A person should have many hobbies. A person is never old as long as he keeps interested in what's going on. One does not feel one's age while intensely interested in many activities."

Hurt on Ferry

Miss Pauline Vistola, 19, Hub girl, severely injured when she was crushed between auto and truck in peculiar ferry accident.

REFUSES FATAL FERRY CRASH WARRANT

A warrant for the arrest for manslaughter of Antonio Boschito of Brooklyn, N. Y., whose automobile crushed to death Miss Bertha Bitteo, 18, also of Brooklyn, on the ferryboat John H. Sullivan, was refused in East Boston court today.

In view of the fact that the accident was caused by the ferry crashing into the slip, Clerk Samuel W. Maylor said there was no evidence of criminality on the part of Boschito. The Brooklyn man's brakes had been examined by inspectors and found in good condition.

Helmar Sconberg of Norwell st., Dorchester, engineer of the ferry, has admitted, according to city officials, that he fainted from the heat and failed to shut down the engines when ordered to do so by Capt. James Young.

Five foot passengers injured are recovering. They are Mrs. Pauline Vesleta, 241 Main st., Woburn; H. Feldman, 141 Springfield ave., Everett; Florio Heed, 166 Gladstone st., Orient Heights; Stanford Kennedy, 38 Hancock ave., Medford, and Edward Milward, 746 Saratoga st., East Boston.

LEAGUE SEEKS AID OF U. S. IN OPIUM 'WAR'

Geneva, Aug. 31 (INS)—The League of Nations Council today accepted the proposal of Premier Mackenzie King of Canada, that the United States be invited to participate in the naming of a central organization in Geneva to aid in the movement of suppressing international opium traffic. There was a secret session of the council today at which the Monroe Doctrine issue was debated. Costa Rica's request that the League render an official interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine has been referred to a special judicial committee, but it is almost certain that the question will be brought up again when the League assembles next week.

Foreign Minister Briand, of France, will arrive on Sunday for the various meetings which will be under way next week.

Considerable comment has been aroused by Lord Cushendun's interview, in which he declared it is illogical and absurd to believe that the whole world will remain war because of the Kellogg-Briand treaty. He said he did not expect any striking results from the treaty in the immediate future. Lord Cushendun believes that the world must be educated slowly and that it must be convinced of the economic folly of war before peace will become permanent.

Lou Tellegen Goes Bankrupt; Blames 'Slapstick Films'

Los Angeles, Aug. 31 (AP)—Lou Tellegen, stage star of pre-war days, former husband of Geraldine Farrar and once leading man for Sarah Bernhardt, blames his financial downfall on acting in "slapstick" screen comedies.

Tellegen filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy here yesterday, listing his debts as $20,901 and his assets as $2200. His wife, Isabel Dilworth Tellegen, filed a similar petition.

R. I. GIRL SCOUT LEADERS GREET MRS. HOOVER

Providence, Aug. 31—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the Republican candidate for President, arrived here today on a visit to Mrs. William H. Hoffman of Barrington, with whom she has been associated in the National Girl Scouts organization for many years.

Mrs Hoover was met at Springfield by Mrs. Hoffman and brought to this city by automobile, to be entertained at a small luncheon followed by a tea at Agawam Hunt. Two guests were principals Rhode Island Girl Scout executives and members of the board of governors of the Women's Republican Club, in both of which Mrs. Hoffman is a prominent member.

Mrs. Henry C. Babcock received with Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Hoffman in the dual capacity of president of the Women's Republican Club and leader of the State organization of Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Leona Curtis Knight, honorary president of the State Hoover-Curtis club, and daughter of Hoover's running mate, was a leading figure at the party.

Mrs. Hoffman at present is a nominee for the office of president of the National Girl Scouts, as successor to Mrs. Hoover who resigned last Spring.

NOTABLES HEAR MME. FARRAR—BETTY ALDEN

Governor and Mrs. Fuller Among Distinguished Guests Assembled at Stillington Hall

CRESCENDO-LIKE THE SEASON OF MUSICALES at Stillington rose to brilliant climax last evening. Musicales there are aplenty, of course, during the fashionable seasons stretching throughout a year. But few have a Stillington Hall for setting and fewer still have a Mme. Farrar for songstress. The diva's reception was the sort to warm the heart; her gown was a gorgeous thing of turquoise brocade shot through with gold, and her jewels superb creations of aquamarine and diamonds that flashed at throat and wrist to enhance the stately beauty of the singer. Officialdom and society were there gorgeously arrayed to more than fill the hall and applaud to the very rafters.

PROBABLY THE LARGEST GROUP OF guests came with Mrs. Fuller and His Excellency the Governor. Perhaps in the entire company none was more individualistic than Donna Antoinetta de Martino and none more captivating than little Miss Phyllis Ellsworth, a pretty creature about to be a bud. Next, after the official party for importance and numbers, may be mentioned the guests Mr. and Mrs. M. Graeme Haughton brought to the musicale. Mrs. Haughton's ecru lace evening gown and graceful wrap created an evening ensemble of smartness and becomingness to hold the eye pleasantly even in so spectacular an array of fine linen and jewels as came to Stillington.

LIGHTNING THAT FLASHED IN VIVID zigzags above Stillington in sombre clouds was not more scintillant than the diamonds Mrs. Fuller wore with her beaded gown and her metal robe. The First Lady's wardrobe contains all sorts of delectable costumes and as for jewels she possesses an amazing variety, both in precious stones and the smart costume stuff now considered absolutely necessary if madame would be chic. A. Platt Andrew was dinner host to some of the Fuller party before the musicale when, without doubt, the political bee did some buzzing. The Andrew establishment is a local landmark aside from being the summer residence of a Congressman.

DONNA DE MARTINO ARRIVED WITH Mr. Andrew. And Dr. and Mrs. Maynard Ladd had Dr. and Madame Kelp of the German Ambassadorial forces for their guests. Mr. and Mrs. George Hawley came with the M. Graeme Haughtons, and Frederick G. Hall, the artist, and Mrs. Hall also basked in the Haughton hospitality. The very charming Mrs. Fuller Halsey, sister of His Excellency, was in the Fuller group that filled an entire row, right from Stillington's enormous fireplace on one side to the arched door opening on the terrace, where a stroll and a cigarette between acts are quite the thing.

MUSICALE SUBSCRIBERS COME OUT gladsomely arrayed, and specially so for the Farrar occasion. The handsome, rosy cheeked Mrs. Joseph Leiter was in cream white from head to heel, a choice inordinately becoming to one so statuesque. Mrs. Wallace Goodrich's bright printed chiffon was rosy as an April sunset. Mrs. George von L. Meyer's dull black gown enhanced that matron's regal bearing. Miss Abby Hunt's diamonds and pearls gleamed as only precious jewels do against black satin. Mrs. William H. Coolidge was in green. Mrs. Frederick J. Bradlee's shawl was the same favorite color, the bright jade green, so effective when lights are bright.

MRS. WILDER POLLARD'S black lace wrap was a filmy thing infinitely becoming to so distinguished a matron. Mrs. Pollard's attractive daughter, Mrs. Joseph Woods, wore a many-tinted metal cloth wrap over a black net frock. Miss Olga Monks bound her Mona Lisa hair with a narrow velvet ribbon and swathed her slender self in metal cloth and chiffon. Miss Monks came with Miss Grace Monks and Mrs. Richard Monks. Miss Suzette Sturgis wore a shawl wrap of tile red, swinging fringes to her satin clad heels, and Miss Anita Sturgis followed suit in Cobalt blue. Mrs. John Greenough's black frock and bright jade green shawl were effective beneath Stillington's hooded lights.

NO STILLINGTON CHRONICLE is complete without mention of its devoted band of ushers. Miss Gabriella Ladd and Miss Vernon Ladd are becoming most proficient. They hand out programs and get the company seated like veterans at such tasks. Miss Phyllis Ellsworth, too, did yeoman service. She is one of the John C. Ellsworth daughters, and this year is slated for presentation. Last evening at Stillington her mater entertained guests, as youthful a mother to two or three lovely daughters as the North Shore boasts. One daughter is now Mrs. Alexander Shaw, and there is a younger one still, not yet through with governesses and studies.

LATE WEEK FESTIVITIES at Nahant included the dinner for which Mrs. Curtis Guild was hostess and which had as guests contemporaries of that notable Bostonian. Just as long as sea breezes are tempered to autumnal usage, and the sun shines cheerily on wave-bound Nahant will Mrs. Guild and others of the small and smart community remain at the shore. Princess Michael Cantacuzene, neighbor to Mrs. Guild and house guest of her parents, the "Tom" Curtises, will be in the East until mid-September. Then the golden-haired, American born, near-royalty departs westward with her tiny daughter, Irena.

Whippet Races Scheduled at Princemere Tomorrow Promise Amusement for Sport Lovers Along the North Shore.

TOMORROW SLIM, LITHE shapes of dogdom, the keen nosed and fleet footed whippets, have their annual day at Princemere. If the smart set can for a few hours divert its interest from tennis finals to a doggish Derby then will the gallery be both large and smart. At any rate, the gallery, even though small in numbers, will be made up of those enthusiastic souls who never miss an event in the sports calendar. Luncheon for owners and guests opens the occasion pleasantly, and Messrs. Bayard Warren, Bayard Tuckerman, Oliver Wolcott, Nathaniel Emmons, John S. Parker and others of that ilk have the affair in hand. So, of course, it will be smoothness personified—with these veterans directing.

BODIES OF DROWNED COUSINS RECOVERED

Springfield, Aug. 31 (AP)—The bodies of Norman Little, 29, and Barden Cox, 28, employes of Merritt, Chapman and Scott, who lost their lives in the Connecticut river, Monday, while at work laying a pipeline from a barge were recovered today. The men were cousins and were drowned when Little fell from the barge and Cox attempted to rescue him.

Bare Legs Almost Cause Nations League Crisis

London, Aug. 31 (AP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Geneva says "an international incident" was narrowly averted in the council room of the League of Nations today when three women, wearing exceedingly stylish seaside summer dresses, but minus stocks, strolled toward the diplomatic reserved seats.

League rules are very strict and the secretariat only recently issued an ukase forbidding women with bare legs to enter the League building. The head usher consequently decided on prompt action and informed the women they could not be allowed in the council room.

The women protested vehemently, and as they possessed the necessary guest cards, which incidentally had been given them by an important delegation, were finally admitted.

REALTY 'FRAUD' QUIZ ROUSES IRE OF AIMEE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 31 (AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson was asked to leave her Angelus Temple today to make a business call at a place not entirely unfamiliar to her—the district attorney's office of Los Angeles County.

The business was to discuss whether she has been the victim of a publicity stunt or is involved in an alleged fraudulent land promotion scheme.

Two of the evangelist's former Bible school students yesterday instituted civil suits for $26,525.75, charging fraud in a real estate proposition at Lake Tahoe, Cal. The plaintiffs were Mellissa W. Purryear and Nada E. Wharton. Attorneys said their suits were only the prelude to other civil actions which will involve $100,000.

Mrs. McPherson was in a slightly bellicose frame of mind, her legal representative intimated. In the first place, she resented the appellation to her in the suits of a "10 per cent commission salesman" and also disliked the reference to Angelus Temple as a "real estate office." For this, her attorneys said, she was seeking "legal redress."

WOMAN IN AUTO SLAIN BY MOTHER OF TWO

Harrison, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—Mrs. Ermina Churiech, 39, of Banton, Ct., was shot to death as she sat at the wheel of her auto here today by Mrs. Mary Caddel of East White Plains. Neighbors said the two had been at odds several months. Mrs. Churiech and her daughter, had been visiting friends and were about to start for home when the shooting occurred. Mrs. Caffel was charged with first degree murder. She has two children.

U. S. BARRING OF STARR PUZZLES LABOR SCHOOL

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—The refusal of the State Department to allow Mark Starr, British labor organizer, to visit this country to lecture at Brookwood Labor College, Katonah, N. Y., today puzzled authorities at the school.

Starr, an organizer of the National Council of Labor Colleges of Great Britain and author of a book on labor, had been invited to participate in the British labor movement for Brookwood students. He also planned to study problems of American labor.

A. J. Muste, chairman of the faculty, said he knew of no reason for the disbarment but recalled that small institutions of learning had met difficulty before in obtaining permission for entry of foreign instructors. He believed factors study of the case by the State department would result in a favorable decision.

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor recently advised affiliated unions to withdraw support from Brookwood as a result of reports that doctrines contrary to A. F. of L. policies and anti-religious doctrines were taught there. William Green, president of the A. F. of L., suspended the order.

HIT-RUN DRIVER OFFERS VICTIM $10 AS 'BALM'

Two 15 bills were offered Charles Falla, 53, of Russell rd., Somerville, by two occupants of the hit-and-run auto mobile in which he was carried from the scene of the accident, he revealed today.

The new type of hit-and-run motorists carried Falla a short distance and then made him get out of the car.

First, however, they offered him $5 to replace his damaged hat and then offered $5 if he would keep silent.

Falla, who said today he believes the men were drunk, obtained parts of the car's registration number.

WOMAN BRAINS OF BIG TICKET SWINDLE

A woman living in a luxurious New York apartment was the brains of the $50,000 Eastern Steamships Company swindle, according to officers of the company and detectives working on the case.

Four members of the steamship company have been arrested in connection with the swindle but as yet the woman is at liberty, although detectives are keeping close watch on her and her arrest is momentarily expected.

It was this woman who secured steamship tickets from pursers and ticket agents of the company after they had been presented by legitimate patrons of the Boston-New York boats. These tickets would then be mailed to the company for redemption.

This woman is said to have used more than a score of different addresses and names in forwarding the stolen tickets for redemption.

Five employes of the steamship company have been dismissed from the service and four of them have been arrested. They are all said to have confessed to their parts in the plot.

The men arrested are: Harry G. Lawson, purser of Gorham st., Lowell; John J. Schroeder, ticket agent; Leo Perk, accountant; William J. Hewitt, ticket agent.

All except the Lowell man reside in New York city and worked at the New York terminals of the steamship company.

It is claimed by the detectives working on the case that these employees would take up tickets from passengers on the boats and would refrain from punching them. Then they would be turned over to the outside woman, who in turn would secure refunds on the tickets, claiming she had purchased them and for one reason or another was unable to use them.

When a batch of six tickets, all bearing different dates, were received from this woman in one day, suspicion was aroused. A detective investigated and the woman finally is said to have confessed, naming the employes as her accomplices.

The officials of the steamship company have not completed a checking of their books so that their exact loss cannot be determined but Capt. E. E. O'Donnell, the president of the company, said it would be phy family are Fred, 17, Joseph, 14, Mary, 12, Francis, 10, Anna, 7, and Rita, 3. The remaining two ill are a five-year-old boy and an infant girl.

Two Youths Arrested

6 CHILDREN IN FAMILY HIT BY PARALYSIS

The entire family visited a beach Sunday, returning home that night. The next morning first symptoms of illness made their appearance. One by one the children fell ill, and within a few days each exhibited signs of paralysis.

The parents at first believed the illness to have been caused by something eaten at the beach, and not until paralysis developed did the true nature of the disease become known.

Dr. Edward Andrews ordered the six seriously affected to the hospital. Alarmed by the unprecedented outbreak in a single family, Dr. Francis G. Curtis, chairman of the Newton health board, called for aid from the state health department. Nearly a dozen physicians responded and visits to other homes in the neighborhood were begun.

TWO SISTERS STRICKEN WITH APPENDICITIS

Nashua, N. H., Aug. 31—Two sisters, stricken with appendicitis, are recovering from operations performed at the Nashua Hospital. The sisters are Margaret and Jean Coulter who came to Nashua from Scotland last year.

Margaret became ill and was taken to the hospital. Three hours later her sister was stricken and joined Margaret in the hospital.

PLANE "PROPOSER" INJURED IN CRASH

Westerly, R. I., Aug. 31—Jack Ayers of Springfield, Mass., who several weeks ago made a proposal of marriage to Miss Edna C. Herder, artist of Holyoke and Northampton, while flying his plane over Niagara Falls, was slightly injured at Pleasant View, near here, when his plane took a nose dive and crashed into a stone wall.

On account of the boy's extreme youth, he will not be prosecuted for the offense, police stated, but his family was notified and warned to see that it does not occur again.

Gets Year in Jail Over Theft From Church Collections

Springfield, Aug. 31—Alertness of John J. Carroll, an usher at St. Michael's Cathedral, resulted in the arrest of Joseph B. King of Boston on a charge of stealing $100 from the church collections. King was sentenced to one year in jail when he was tried in the district court here before Judge Heady. Carroll is alleged to have seen King take the money as the latter was leaving the cathedral.

year-old patrimony of the Church of Rome.

"It is true that politics is an ugly fiction, and all this outcry against war while we arm ourselves secretly against an act of reprehensible insincerity in this 20th century allows the supposition that it is an adroit, crafty attempt at salvation for those nations already 'armed' and which do not want anxieties nor anyone to disturb their slow digestion of gold and dominions."

Arnaldo declared Italy places her greatest reliance in her armed forces.

Coolidge to See Huge Ship Loaded in Half-Hour

Superior, Wis., Aug. 31 (AP)—President Coolidge looked forward today to being informed regarding politics in Ohio by Walter Brown, assistant secretary of commerce, who he invited to the summer White House. But his real treat was to be a visit to the adjacent harbors of Superior and Duluth. There he will view from a small launch detailed workings of what has been described as one of the largest ship-loading centers in the world.

At the Superior Coal docks and the enormous ore docks, the largest in the world, arrangements had been made to begin loading operations as soon as the President's launch should come abreast some of the ships, so that the Chief Executive might have an opportunity to see how 15,000 tons of iron ore could be poured into a vessel in about half an hour.

Fever Epidemic Abates

Athens, Aug. 31—The epidemic of dengue, which had caused a large number of deaths in Greece recently, is on the wane, due to the isolation of the victims of the malady. The epidemic had caused great suffering and virtually paralyzed all public business.

MEAN BURGLAR MAY BE INSANE

New York, Aug. 30—Peter Maher, who with his wife is charged with robbing the home of a dead woman is believed by the police to be insane. He has been ordered to the Kings' County Court for observation while his wife has been released on $1500 bail on the robbery charge.

According to the police, the couple posed as relatives of Mrs. Sarah Wiggins, 78, of Flatbush, securing the keys to the Wiggins home a day or two after Mrs. Wiggins died. According to the police the couple stripped the home of all its valuables.

During the night, while Maher was in jail, the police said he acted like a lunatic and tore in shreds his trousers, which he stuffed bit by bit into a water pipe. While en route to court for arraignment this morning Maher is said to have asked permission to drop in and buy an expensive automobile.

U. S. 'COERCION' OF LIBERIA REFUTED

By C. D. B. KING
President of Liberia

Monrovia, Liberia, Aug. 31 (AP)—I have noted with surprise the alleged statement made in an address delivered at th Williamstown Institute of Politics by Prof. Raymond D. Buell, particularly the suggestion made therein that the Liberian government was coerced by the United States Department of State in the matter of the Firestone Rubber concession and the seven per cent loan of 1927.

This suggestion is without any foundation in fact. The approach to the agreement was made by the private enterprise of Mr. Firestone and neither directly nor indirectly was any influence brought to bear upon the government of Liberia by the Department of State or any other department or official of the United States compelling the granting of the Firestone concessions.

FULLY CONSIDERED

The fact that the negotiations between Mr. Firestone and the Liberian government were protracted over a period of two and a half years should conclusively show that there was no coercion, but rather that full consideration was given to the views of each party by the other.

Nothing in the Firestone agreement obligates the government of Liberia to impress labor for the company even should an occasion to do so present itself. On this point the government of Liberia would welcome an investigation on the spot by an impartial commission.

This apparent attempt to bring Liberia's affairs in an unfavorable light before the American people, as a factor in the present political controversy, is much to be regretted. Most interesting to me is the fact that Prof. Buell is able to predict Liberia's future and impugn the soundness and integrity of its statesmen after a visit of only 15 days, during which he could have seen but few of our high officials and leading citizens.

EXPLAINS U. S. LOAN.

In respect to the loan of 1927, internal economic conditions growing out of the World War dictated to the Government of Liberia the necessity and necessity of funding its indebtedness and reorganizing its finances. It was this which led to the offer of the United States Government in 1921 to make available funds which in the Wilson administration had been allocated to Liberia during the war.

This proposal did not meet with the approval of Congress and the tentative agreement which had been reached by the two governments lapsed. Nevertheless the need for reorganizing Liberian finances still existed and Liberia, like other states in similar circumstances, took advantage of the opportunity offered by the American money market.

MAYOR WALKER TO SPEAK AT BRAVES FIELD OCT. 6

Mayor Walker of New York will come to Boston for the big Democratic pow-wow to be staged by the Democratic city committee at Braves Field on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 6. President Thomas H. Green of the Boston City Council received a telephone call from Franklin D. Roosevelt, who stated that Mayor Walker had accepted the invitation to speak at the meeting.

All the plans for the meeting will not be completed until the return of John I. Fitzgerald, president of the city committee, who is on his vacation, but the tentative plans call for addresses by the various candidates on the State ticket.

RADIO AMATEURS RESENT FALSE MESSAGE CHARGES

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Amateur radio operators through their organization, the American Radio Relay League, today protested to the Federal Radio Commission against suggestions that messages purporting to be from the missing Greater Rockford plane, apparently false, had emanated from an amateur station.

A reward of $500 has been offered by the organization for information leading to the conviction of persons guilty of using the plane's call signals for transmitting fake messages.

HURRICANE DEVASTATES SOUTHERN HAITI; 200 DEAD

Fort Au Prince, Haiti, Aug. 31 (AP)—The situation on the southern peninsula of Haiti, devastated by a hurricane Aug. 17, appeared today to be desperate. Aviators who made a flight over the region reported they could see little sign of life. About 200 persons were killed in the disaster and more than 10,000 rendered homeless. Crops were destroyed on a large scale.

Bridgeman to Retire

BIGGEST LINER FOR WHITE STAR

London, Aug. 31 (AP)—Uncertainty regarding the size of the new White Star liner under construction at Belfast for use in the Southampton-New York service was cleared up today by the company's announcement that the vessel will have a displacement of 60,000 tons.

It will be the largest liner in the world and will be completed in three years at a cost of about $35,000,000.

While rumors are current that the Cunard Line also plans to build a gigantic vessel, officials of the company said no decision had been reached in regard to the matter. They admitted that it is being considered.

California Has Most Fliers

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—California seems to be rubbing it in. Not content with the best tennis players, track athletes and oarsmen it leads in number of aviators. Official statistics give it 417 licensed pilots. New York is second with 336.

MGR. MORIARTY DIES IN REVERE

Thousands of Catholics throughout Greater Boston and New England are today mourning the passing of the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Edward J. Moriarty, pastor of St. Thomas Church, South st., Jamaica Plain, who died at his summer home in Revere.

Mgr. Moriarty, who was 72 years old and had been in the priesthood for 48 years, had been in failing health for some time but it was only a few days ago that he left his work in Jamaica Plain to go to his summer home.

Born in East Boston, he was educated at the local schools and at St. Laurent College in Canada. He entered the priesthood December 17, 1880. On his return to Boston he was chaplain of the Concord Reformatory for several years and later served as chaplain of the State Prison at Charlestown. At one time he was connected with St. Joseph's Church in the West End.

In 1834 he was selected by the late Archbishop Williams to be rector of the Concord Parish Church, going from there to St. Peter's Church, Cambridge, in 1902. In 1913 he was made a monsignor. In 11 he went abroad with Cardinal O'Connell as a member of his suite and was presented to Pope Pius X. The following year he was appointed permanent rector of St. Thomas' Church, Jamaica Plain.

TEACHER'S SLAYER PRAYS AND SMOKES, DIES IN CHAIR

Ossining, N. Y., Aug. 31 (INS)—Justice took its toll today for the murder of Mrs. Helen Kimball, Brooklyn school teacher. Martin L. Miller, negro, calmly went to his death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison after spending several hours in prayer. Just before going to the death chamber he smoked a strong black cigar. According to testimony at the trial, Miller entered Mrs. Kimball's apartment to rob it and when she discovered him he killed her. The slaying occurred March 19.

JUDGE 'SITS IN AT POKER' AND FREES 35

Failure of Judge Edward O'Brien of Lynn district court to see eye to eye with Acting Chief of Police Edward D. Callahan today resulted in the discharge of 35 men arrested in a gambling raid at the Olympia Club, Oxford st., Lynn.

Charles Monolas, proprietor of the club, was charged with maintaining a gaming nuisance, and the other 34 with gaming.

Patrolmen Morley and Darmey testified they watched a card game for three nights, and that the players used red backed cards for chips, each "chip" being worth two and one-half cents. The cards used were blue-backed, police said.

After an all day hearing yesterday, Judge O'Brien, Atty. Augustus Tolman, counsel for the defendants, Acting Chief Callahan and the two policemen adjourned today to the club.

Darmey sat at a table with cards in his hands, while the judge and acting chief stood where the officers said they had been concealed. Callahan said he could read the cards, but Judge O'Brien was unable to do so.

SAYS KELLEY BOASTED OF "BEATING" DEATH VICTIM

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 31 (INS)—"Well, I gave her a darn good beating." That, according to testimony of W. M. McKnight, was the assertion made by Leo P. Kelley, on trial for slaying Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, society matron, to police a short time after he was found hiding in a closet of the Mellus home on the day of the murder.

McKnight, a friend of the Mellus family, said he arrived at the Mellus home before the police, and that he saw officers drag the "butcher boy" from the closet. Kelly admits he had known Mrs. Mellus for five years, but denied killing her.

LOCATE VETS' HOSPITAL AT WESTERLY

Indianapolis, Aug. 31—After debate on the floor of the convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in this city, victory in the contest over the site for the Veterans' Bureau Hospital for Southern New England went to Westerly, R. I.

When the vote was taken, it was found that Westerly had a good lead over its rival, Stonington, Ct. So the national organization is now recorded as favoring the Rhode Island city over the Connecticut city.

In the election today Eugene I. Carver of Brookline, Mass., senior national vice-commander, is expected to win an easy ballot as next national commander. He was the sole nominee for the office, and no opposition has yet developed.

The auxiliary also elects today, and it is believed Mrs. Bessie Haaken of Revere, Mass., wife of Massachusetts State Commander Joseph Hanken, will be elected national president.

AUTOS WRECKED 2 MEN ESCAPE

Two drivers narrowly escaped serious injury, and two automobiles and a gasoline filling station office were wrecked, in a collision today at North Shore rd. and Revere st., Revere.

The cars were operated, police say, by William Smoller of Chester ave., Chelsea, and Franklin Thoms of Medford st., Charlestown.

Smoller's car caromed into the filling station office and crashed through the wall. Thoms' car overturned, pinning him under it, but he was found to be uninjurt when passers-by extricated him.

Husband "Told" and It Cost Him His Life

Gettysburg, Pa., Aug. 31 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Wagner Elker, 20, today stood convicted of murder in the second degree in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband, Perry, on the morning of July 10. The jury recommended leniency.

Mrs. Elker received the verdict with calm. Her glance was on the floor as the foreman announced it.

Mrs. Elker, 20, the mother of a two-year-old son, testified that on the Saturday preceding the fatal shooting, her husband confessed to her that he had been unfaithful.

The knowledge preyed upon her mind and she got a shotgun belonging to her father-in-law and tried to "scare" her husband. Going to his room where he was sleeping, she said she fired once into the head of the bed. Her husband awoke and attempted to wrest the gun from her, and when he seized the muzzle, she testified the gun was discharged, killing him.

Graves Heads Tax Society

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 31 (AP)—Mark Greaves, chairman of the New York Tax Commission was elected president of the National Tax Association in convention here.

Modern Cain Is Held for 3 Poison Beer Murders

New Britain, Ct., Aug. 31 (AP)—Samuel Weiss, 32, was charged in police court today with the murder of his brother, John; John Stehr and John Stein, the State claiming he placed poison in beer at the home of his brother.

It is the claim of police that Weiss murdered his brother because he was infatuated with Catherine Weiss, his brother's wife. Mrs. Weiss, who has been under arrest since Tuesday, will not be charged with any crime, police say.

ROSSI JAILED BY MUSSOLINI

Rome, Aug. 31 (AP)—A Stefani News Agency dispatch from Como says Gen. Cesare Rossi, Italian political exile, was arrested at Campioni after having entered Italian territory clandestinely.

A woman, Marguerite Durand who accompanied Rossi, also was arrested, the dispatch says.

Paris, Aug. 31 (AP)—Complications were thought possible today due to the arrest of Cesare Rossi on what was termed a "sentimental journey" just over the Italian border from Switzerland.

Some dispatches questioned the regularity of the capture of the man who, with Mussolini and two others, organized the march on Rome and later fled from Italy. It was reported that Rossi was seized at Campioni, where it is said no Italian visa is necessary for a visit, and was taken to the jail at San Donnino.

Every Little Bit Helps

UTILITIES PUBLICATION COMMITTEE
MUNSEY BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D. C.

ANN ARBOR, MICH.

May 5, 1928

Mr. Herbert Silvester, Secretary,
Michigan Section, N.E.L.A.,
c/o The Detroit Edison Co.,
Ann Arbor, Mich.

Dear Mr. Silvester:

Here is a little matter that we are calling to your attention confidentially.

It has come to our notice that the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners is in debt $1600.00 for the printing of its 1923 Convention proceedings. An effort is being made to sell enough copies of the 1924 proceedings to pay off the 1923 debt as well as to meet the 1924 cost of publication.

This Committee has been asked to assist and we are, therefore, referring the matter to you directly. We believe that the utility organizations will be justified in helping the National Association of State Commissioners in this exchange and we suggest that you order as many copies of the volume at $8.00 each as you can use and distribute.

The volume contains a good deal of information concerning the utility industry and would be of interest and value to Newspapers, Chambers of Commerce, City Attorneys, and Libraries, as well as to utility companies generally.

We are asking the Secretary of the National Association to send you a circular descriptive of the volume. Will you kindly let us know how many copies you can arrange to use.

Very truly yours,

UTILITIES PUBLICATION COMMITTEE
By

Secretary.

When the National Association of Public Utilities Commissioners was in debt $1600 on a printing bill, "Power" was asked to aid in "this emergency." It is a "little matter," but probably every little bit helps. Note the "confidentially."

Today, in the real estate columns of the Classified Ads. you will find scores of opportunities for profitable investment.

SAY LIFE AFTER 50 IS GOLDEN

of the celebrated Flo Ziegfeld.

Said he:

"Youth and its excited discovery of life, with its crowded variegated interests, lays the foundation for the superstructure of middle and old age, which should have poised, serene and balanced interests rich in achievement and fine accomplishments for others. The older years should be wonderful if one matures like old wine into a vintage product.

"Keep the brain alive in every cell, multiply your congenial contacts with life, be unselfish and age becomes golden, like a glorious afternoon slowly moving to the sunset.

"The danger is in forming set, rigid habits, for life itself is fluid, changing and never quite the same to any two observers."

OLCOTT'S VIEWS

And Chauncey Olcott, dear delightful, beloved ballad singer that he is, wired from Saratoga Springs where he is attending the race meet:

"Some one has said that every age has its compensation. I am now enjoying memories and reveries and dreams of my stage career, and who shall say which is the greater?

"When romance dies for me, I shall die.

"Whether the intellect is more exciting than youthful romantic excitements I cannot say one way or the other, but this I know, my dreams are enough for me."

Then Alda . . . that magnificent prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company was asked for her views. She is too young to think seriously of age, and not too old to speak warmly of youth and its glorious phase of life. She said:

"Youthful excitement and romance, like all other experiences, are necessary to develop the intellect that enables us to appreciate life as we find it later on."

One wonders what Mary Garden might say if asked how she felt at 50. Mary T. Dougherty, who interviewed her many times, and has written her life story for the Hearst newspapers has said she could put Mary's thoughts into these words:

"Fifty. How do I feel? Just great. Why, I am just beginning to live. It took me 40 years to find out what the world was all about; now I've found out I am just beginning to enjoy myself."

KELLOGG AND IRISH ARE HAPPY TOGETHER

Dublin, Aug. 31 (AP)—Citizens of Dublin are making the stay of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg here a memorable one. The State banquet held in Kellogg's honor at the Shelburne Hotel was the most remarkable gathering of its kind since the Free State was established. The attendance included every man in the country's service who was present in Dublin. All were presented to the secretary. Among the guests was the singer, John McCormack.

Nearly 2000 guests participated in the reception and ball at the plaza Dublin's largest hall, which followed the banquet.

President Cosgrave issued the invitations to the banquet, which was attended by leaders of every party in the Dail with the exception of Eamonn De Valera, who is in Berlin. An invitation was sent to the latter's chief lieutenant, Sean Lemass.

5 HOSPITAL OFFICIALS ARE BITTEN BY MAD MAN

Kashau, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 31 (AP)—Five hospital officials were in a critical condition today in consequence of having been bitten by a shoemaker of the name of Turanicht who was afflicted with hydrophobia. He was subdued and died in the hospital.

"Every Plane a Warship, Every Flier a Soldier!"

Omaha, Neb. Aug. 31 (AP)—A day before his retirement from active duty with the army, Brig. Gen. Lloyd W. Brownell recommended today a plan for the adequate development of an air reserve. His plan in brief:

"Every airplane in the United States a potential machine of war.

"Every commercial air pilot, a potential army or naval reserve.

"Every man connecting with the airplane industry trained for war.

"Aircraft design controlled so passenger planes will become bombing planes, or plants or other special service planes.

"Airplane factories so equipped they can be taken over by the government in case of war on a moment's notice."

Gen. Brownell has been assigned to the Seventh Corps area for a number of years with headquarters in Omaha.

CHAPTER 5

UST before that sudden last turn which sends River oad plunging down the hill merges with the state high ay, Tappan Zee creeps up nto a miniature bay between he grounds of the yacht club nd Vantage Point. And quite t the end of the Point so it lmost overhangs the calmly owing river, is the big, old unshackle building of the University Club.

Long ago when Manor Park was ungle forest this was a camp ere now it serves as a landmark evidence for fraternity brothers who occupy in leisurely comfort the wo upper stories, dine in the excellent restaurant on the ground oor, and meet sociably in the lunge across the corridor.

When Mr. Benjamin Black had oncluded neatly his business at the bank he strolled out Cedar and southward toward the University Club, his long figure casting a longer shadow at his side, addy brown head bared to the reeze cooling with the approach of evening.

Benny—as his friends called him—at a glowing contentment. ked the day, the town, the trees much rustled and flitted their tanches, the flowers massed bright r on velvet lawns. He found life fairly satisfactory, take it all in all.

Fate had given him rather more than a break. A chap out of college year before last and but just returned from twelve months' roaming about Europe to have the vice presidency of Joseph C. Black Boot handed to him, to be developed to establish an eastern branch of the great factory in St. Louis whose product, superfine shoes, was famous the world over—this was rather more than he had expected, much more that had been.

But he had no mind for taking chances of his luck. His father, dear Benny admired more than any human being living or dead, had begun at a cobbler's bench and climbed slowly at first, then by eighty leaps. And Benny was his father's son. Fortunate that such fine start had come his way, but it was not essential. Eventually he would have been bound to stand at the top, though without Joseph Carter Black behind him it would have been a stiff job.

So he had himself and tiny nothing wrinkles passed about his eyes, reddish brown eyes flecked with gold when the sun struck down, a whitely flashing smile, almost too regular features browned by golf and polo and ocean travel, and a tilt to his shoulders, a carefree rhythm in all his movements, such portion of feminine Manor Park as was on the street turned to stare after the personable stranger. But he saw only what was in his path—business, the factory over in the industrial section at the west of the town with its wheels already turning, traffic rolling up and down.

At the club he picked up some mail and went on to his quarters, a two-room and bath apartment overlooking the river. A typical man's refuge, the living room, filled with deep chairs and lamps at convenient reader and a scattering of ashtrays. Magazines were everywhere, some open and put up face downward, others in stacks, some with leaves creased and pencil marks along the margins. Trade magazines having to do with shoe manufacturing and a few on art, all of these featuring articles of feminine feet.

Benny surveyed the place with a boyish grin, brought up a convenient stool, which became a grunt as he piled a pile of photographs crowding over the table.

"Do something with those," he mused aloud and once more inspected the room. Tobacco jars, a pair of loving cups on the mantel; drawing boards and crayons awaiting a place on the table. He began to shuffle the pictures, studying them idly.

The first was the likeness of a beautiful girl, as were the second and the third and all the others. All inscribed dashingly or in hands scrawlingly unformed or airily sophisticated; some with messages vaguely mysterious, others possessive or assured or provocative and every one with some word of love.

The girl he had wanted to marry in his freshman year; the one he had kissed at a house party who later spurned, tapping at his door; the girl who came on the liner and was always turning up in odd corners of Europe; the dancer who had tried to frame a marriage. . . .

He pushed the pictures away, disturbed and angry. What the devil had he brought them along for? No time for fooling now; more important things to think about. Women. Two sorts of women in this world: the dull, good sort and the others. Some lay probably he would marry one of the first and settle down in a respectable idiom, but until that day he was too busy to bother with any of them, especially the living numbers. . . .

Too much cutting up going on, anyway! That was what had caught Jeu. Poor kid, trying to play the game and going under—or almost. Dad had seen to it that the shreds of her pride were saved, but her trouble had made her brother do a lot of thinking. The little sister and he had been closer than most brother and sister was his as well.

In the end he checked the photographs beyond the shirts in his bureau drawer and settled himself in one of the deep chairs with a bulky sheaf of trade magazines on his knees looking very boyish under the shaded light and not at all like one through with girls forever.

The telephone roused him as darkness was falling. Norman Gregory, who had been the year ahead [illegible]

5 GIRLS IN 'HUBBY HUNT'

Society Stirred by Rum Raids

5 GO WEST IN QUEST OF LOVE

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Somewhere between Washington and Los Angeles there's a man around that dangerous age of 40 who had better watch out because if he's the right man, Miss Helen Davis is going to find him and marry him.

And what is more, she intends to be accompanied on her forth-coming matrimonial adventure by four other young women who know exactly what they want in the husband line.

Miss Davis concocted her scheme without any thought of it getting into the headlines. It was just because she was lonely for "the right kind of a man" and believed other girls to be in the same fix that caused her to place this advertisement to the want ad columns of the Washington papers

"WANTED—Four women who have not found their ideal mate to drive to Los Angeles in a sedan, stopping en route. They must each have $300. Address Box 152."

GO-GETTERS WIN.

Does Miss Davis seem forward and bold? Then listen to what she says about that:

"You know," she confided to a reporter, "it has always seemed to me that the women who get the best men are a little bold. The modest, timid little women usually get the worst of it in marriage. Anyway, I decided that I would rather be a go-getter and get the right kind of a man than have the wrong kind give me."

Miss Davis is no longer what you might call a flapper. She is 32. But the picture of her that the Washington Post prints on the first page today reveals a decidedly attractive woman and gives strength to her assertion that she had had "plenty of chances."

"I've had plenty of chances," she said, "but not the right kind. I am looking for my ideal. Now, there was Col. ——. He had money and he was willing to share it with me. But he drank too much and that was too much for me."

SHE PREFERS BRUNETTE.

But before this story ends it might be well to give the interviewing reporter's description of Miss Davis:

"She is 32 and, even if she does say it herself, is attractive. She has brown eyes, long brown hair, is five feet five inches tall, and weighs about 120 pounds. She spent two years in college and is capable of earning $250 a month."

As to the man she is looking for, He must be at least 40 and can be as old as 60. He must be a brunette, fairly well educated and fond of traveling. Last, but very important, he must put up $5,000 for the education of her 18-year-old brother. She said she wouldn't hold a million dollars against a man" but that money is not the first consideration.

"If he is the right man, I would be glad to step out and earn $250 a month myself," was her comment on that.

Details as to Miss Davis' address, her occupation, et cetera, are not given because, the reporter said, he wanted to protect her against undesirable men.

KING WILL WED PRINCESS OR HE WON'T BE KING

Berlin, Aug. 31 (INS)—Coronation of Ahmed Zogu as King of Albania was postponed because Zogu demands Princess Giovanna of Italy as his wife to insure Italian support, according to reports from Tirana, Belgrade and Vienna, today.

The princess is the daughter of the Italian King and Queen.

Premier Mussolini is said to favor the marriage, but King Victor Emmanuel opposes it. Italy is Albania's protector and Zogu is said to favor King Boris of Bulgaria as a son-in-law.

England and France are said to have protested against the coronation because neighboring states were not notified.

Zogu styles himself "Zogu First King of the Albanians," although he has not yet been crowned.

Albania was formerly a principality and Zogu was President. A few weeks ago he decided to be king, and the status of the country was changed. Italy has powerful political and commercial interests in Albania.

EXCLUSIVE HOMES ARE 'SPEAKEASIES'

Conservative South Shore residents gasped with amazement today when a list of fashionable residences and two exclusive sections of Scituate and Hanover were branded as speakeasies following raids by the State police.

Two cars and two motors were arrested charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale and illegal transportation. Those arrested were Mrs. Mary Jane Jenkins, the Oaken Bucket rd., Scituate, Fanue M. Woodman, Ellms at Hanover, Samuel H. Stevens, Hanover farmer.

After being taken to the State police barracks at Norwell they were released on bail. Mrs. Jenkins' $500 and the others $200 each. Arraigned later in Hingham District Court, their cases were continued until next Friday.

The four raids netted the police a truckload of liquor and resulted from an investigation which operated several weeks ago.

Corporal Joseph Fratus and Private Louis Bird of the Norwell barracks, according to a police report, received information that several exclusive homes had thrown their doors open to summer visitors and were dispensing liquor at all hours of the day and night.

Following the raids, the police [illegible] was driven to the Norwell barracks in the police car, ringing up a fine of

French "Henry Ford" Drops $500,000; Wife Stops Big Gamble

Paris, Aug. 31 (INS)—Andre Citroen, the Henry Ford of France, lost $500,000 at the baccarat table of the Deauville Casino in one evening, and his wife took steps to curb his gambling, according to a newspaper report today.

The case has aroused the interesting question: Has a wife the right to prevent her husband from gambling.

Mme. Citroen interfered, despite protests of the gaming officials that she was delaying the play. Thereupon she cried out:

"When one has a madman in the family one has the right to defend oneself."

U.S. PAIR PICKED TO WIN

Cochet and Brugnon Expected to Fall Before Americans in Playoff at Longwood

George L. Lott and John H. Hennessey today were scheduled to make the final effort to defeat Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon of France, world's champion tennis team.

The match will be played on the Longwood Cricket Club courts and Lott and Hennessey, who defeated the Frenchmen yesterday from behind, are confident they will be able to repeat.

The match will start at 2 o'clock.

U. S. STARS FAVORED

The second match will be played between Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra, France's two ranking players, and Vincent Richards and Frank Hunter, America's ranking pair. This match is expected to be a close one, as both teams are evenly matched.

The Frenchmen have been playing in fine form and are confident they will be able to defeat the Americans.

Cochet and Borotra will be seeking revenge for the defeat administered to them by Tilden and Hunter in the Davis Cup matches at Philadelphia last month.

100 KILO DERBY AT REVERE TOMORROW

The greatest cycling event of the year at the Revere Cycle track, larger even than the Golden Wheel or th famous Eol d'Or, is carded for Saturday night, at the seashore oval, when Nat Butler stages the International Derby. The race will be the longest here of the year, 100 kilometers, or 62¼ miles.

Seven, recognized as the fleetest in the sport, will start, including Frankie Keenan, Revere, and George Chapman, Newark, America's standard bearers; Larry Gaffney, Ireland Jedly Wynsdau, Belgium; Rene Boerman, Holland; Francesco Zucchetti, Italy, and Albert LeTournier France.

Before the race each rider will circle the track once, carrying the flag of his native land. Keenan will ride around first, bearing the Stars and Stripes, then all other representatives will circle the oval, Chapple riding around last with Uncle Sam's banner.

Because of the distance of the race, Keenan should be the favorite to outride his six foes. Chapple, the veteran, is better over the shorter distances, but Frankie has the stamina to ride at his best speed all the way.

However, much can happen in 62¼ miles. Those who run into engine and tire troubles early in the race will have plenty of time to gain back lost ground. This is another reason why Keenan will be favored.

Bobby and Jimmy Walthour, cousins, will team up in a special sprint match against Carl Stockholm and Chick Meyers in the semifinal. This race will be best two one mile heats in three, points to decide the winner. Other races for amateurs and pros will also be held.

JOE DUNDEE KNOCKED OUT

Chicago, Aug. 31—Young Jack Thompson Panther Man from Los Angeles, is this day a sensational, overwhelming figure in the welterweight division following his two-round knockout over the world's champion, Joe Dundee, here last night. The latter's title did not pass to the colored challenger, however, as they fought one pound above the welter standard.

It was a tremendous victory on the part of the Western boxer, and, moreover, it was the most startling outcome of the year in pugilism.

The bout, ending as a technical knockout when Referee Ed Purdy stepped between the gob fighter and the groggy champion in the second round and stopped the fight after Dundee had been floored twice by the deft attack of the challenger.

Purdy's judgment was excellent as Dundee was out on his feet, helpless and blindly groping at the ropes.

Thompson, with the lithe spring and the rapier thrust of a panther in his right paw, floored Dundee for an 8 count in the opening minute of the second round.

The champion struggled back to his feet and resorted to all his defensive cunning to protect himself until he could recover, but Thompson pressed in, smartly shifted his attack to Dundee's body, and then again to the head.

As Dundee backed up to the ropes and around the ring Thompson pressed in to complete the drama of victory, and presently dropped Dundee on his back in Thompson's own corner.

The welter champion raised from the resin at the count of six, wearily pulled himself to his hands and knees and arose at the count of nine. It was here that Purdy interfered, as Dundee swayed into the ropes, barely able to raise his hands to defend himself.

This is the second time in Dundee's career that he has been stopped. Eddie Roberts, Western welter, stopped the champion in one round in San Francisco last year.

Thompson weighed 148¾ pounds and Dundee 147½. The welterweight limit is 147. Nine thousand fans paid $36,000 to see the show.

Salem Caddies Score Win Over Tedesco

MR. BOSTON stepped in on Major Frank Cavanaugh, Fordham football coach, as he was telling the boys all about [his] recent Olympic games.

[He] was managing a winning football team [at] the great [U]niversity of Mr. Poston

"A

THE English runners looked great. Lowe gave one of the finest exhibitions of running I have ever seen. He started in [his] race with the idea in mind that Lloyd Hahn was the man he would have to beat if he were to win.

"For the first part of the race he kept so close to Hahn that the latter could feel the Englishman's hot breath on his shoulders. When Lowe got ready, he took the lead and ran the American right into the ground.

"I think Hahn and some of our other athletes are much better performers than they showed themselves as being in the Olympic games. Their eagerness to make good showings upset their work and caused them to blow up."

MR. BOSTON asked Cav when he would start his football drills at Fordham.

"[A]round September 15," said Cav. "Some of the boys [are] already [here] and in the event they do not get booked over [the] week-end [we] will [have] practice."

"How's the team looking this year?" Mr. Boston asked Cav.

"[We] have two veterans [who] will be playing in the Olympic games, Chuck Hunsinger [who] played [at] Pittsburgh and Mr. Boston in Indiana [and] Duncan Patterson [at] Michigan," said the coach.

HARRY KELLEY then rolled along.

"Say something about Harry Roberts, my new bantamweight star," orated Harry. "This kid looks like the goods and I believe he can beat any of the boys of his weight in New England. I am willing to let him make weight for Harry Goldstein. This is the match we are most anxious to get. You won't go wrong if you tip the world Goldstein is the goods in the fistic line."

Southie Takes First Game of Twi Series

[Boston] won the first game [of the] twi-series with Boston [at the] Tobin's Field [yesterday] afternoon, 6 to 5. [Southie] opened with a double and [a] single [by] Zeddie and Wesson [which] netted [the] Unionites [two] runs. Lou Sockalexis [was] the key [to] victory.

Lucas McGrath [was] credited [with] the win [after] relieving Ed Hoch [in the] fourth. Thompson [who] pitched [for] South Boston [was] nicked [for] only [six] hits [but] issued [nine] passes [and] was [the] one [who] was [responsible] for [the] most [of the] runs [that] were scored [against] [him].

Then after Mahoney struck out Hoch Thompson who pitched for South Boston [was] nicked [for] only [six] hits [but] issued [nine] passes [and] was [the] one [who] was [responsible] for [the] most [of the] runs [that] were scored [against] [him].

[Hoch] [was] wild [in the] sixth [and] [was] relieved [by] [a] [three] [base] [hit] [was] [allowed]. Bill Cronin [was] [on] [the] [mound] [for] [Boston] [in the] [seventh] [and] [eighth] [innings] [and] [was] [nicked] [for] [a] [double] [and] [two] [singles] [which] [accounted] [for] [the] [three] [runs] [that] [Southie] [got] [in the] [last] [two] [innings]. MY TRUE LIFE STORY - By Gene Tunney

Gibson Says Tunney Owes Him $15,000

New York, Aug. 31—Although Gene Tunney and Billy Gibson, his manager, have severed professional relations, their partnership remains in effect for two legal enterprises, it was learned through reliable sources.

Paradoxically, Gibson was bitterly opposed to Tunney's retirement as heavyweight champion, but his grief at the loss of his meal ticket was a passing indisposition compared to his genuine anguish when he learned their association would be [illegible]

[illegible] Gibson was so deeply [illegible] objected to have [illegible] conversations [illegible] Tunney withheld dough

[illegible] of my attorneys [illegible] told [illegible] [illegible] me at all. Tunney and I are all right, and there'll be no trouble."

MRS. PRUNARET SHOOTS 88 IN CHARLES RIVER GOLF

The women's team match at Charles River between Ch[illegible] Riv[illegible] and Worcester was won by Charles River 12½ to 5½.

The best scores of the day were turned in by Mrs. Prunaret of [illegible] River 88, and Mrs. Tufts of Worcester, 92.

AFTER TUNNEY'S MONEY

Both are predicated upon similar [illegible] proposals, Mara claiming 10 per cent of Tunney's earnings and Huff 25 per cent.

Huff has also alleged to have been in the battle of the Philadelphia fight, in which Tunney won the championship from Jack Dempsey, and both were cuffed upon Tunney winning the decision.

Gibson [illegible] which off the alert when questioned about it, but he admitted that Tunney is [illegible] a big sum of [illegible] money in escrow.

"In fact we're only [illegible] one story at $1 a [illegible] It's been [illegible] it must. It's [illegible] and it won't be at least $50 [illegible] We've had that [illegible] in a war fund for some time, and of course I've had [illegible] in with my share.

"There's nothing to that [illegible] about me suing Tunney. I've been hearing all sorts of stories among them one that Tunney put [illegible] me at all. Tunney and I are all right, and there'll be no trouble."

Main Bout—10 o'clock.

By JACK CONWAY

WITH an even break from the weather man, Al Mello will defend his title as New England welterweight champion against Charley Donovan of Dorchester in a 10-round bout at an Arena club show at Fenway Park tonight. [illegible] champion will enter the ring a favorite in the betting. As his [illegible] Donovan will have plenty of [illegible] The [illegible] youth has spoke[illegible] his way out front in the [illegible] ranks and is of the opinion he can [illegible] to take a fall out of the champion.

[illegible] like Mello will take plenty of chances when in the ring. He is rugged and a good puncher. Al[illegible] he has been in a real fair [illegible] the smoke of battle [illegible] over.

Jack Conway

COL. BOB McKIRDY announced today he will [illegible] the win[illegible] of tonight's bout to collide with Ike Murphy of Lowell. Murphy is [illegible] taking [illegible] and will be ready for action in two weeks.

Young Porter, latest [illegible] sensation, [illegible] has been matched to [illegible] a [illegible] Hiker in New York on account of his victory over Nick Testa, is numbered among those welterweights who have been beaten by Mello.

LADDIE LEE of Somerville will draw [illegible] opponent in the semi-final of eight rounds.

Lee is one of the [illegible] hitting middleweights in the country. As Curcio has also beaten some high class talent this bout should furnish plenty of action.

Joe Tavelleri of Cambridge and Young Granberg of Worcester will sweep into action in a six session affair.

Real Friends Helped Tunney Up to Title

By GENE TUNNEY

Retired Undefeated World's Heavyweight Champion

CHAPTER VI

MANY of my dearest friendships I formed during the time I held the world's heavyweight championship.

Peculiarly enough, it was boxing that brought me friends in high places—bankers, lawyers, writers, professional men in all walks and artists of ability.

But there were some friendships dating from the struggling, hard knock, post war days that held fast through my years as champion and always were an inspiration to me in my ring [illegible]

Each week those interested in the Boston Art Museum exercises will have an opportunity to compete for 10 pairs of tickets for the Wednesday matinee performance at the Boston Theater, where "The Spirit of New York," the first production by Vaughan Glaser's Players, will be presented.

Each day five pairs of tickets will be awarded to the five persons who correctly solve the crossword puzzle and write a 10 to 15 word letter telling briefly why they like the American crossword puzzle. The awards will be made on the basis of correctness of the solution and the wording, clean and neat appearance of the letter.

Embarrassing Moments

Dear Sir:

I am a charming blond of 22 Summers and am spending my vacation in the mountains among a very nice crowd of young men. Imagine my consternation when one of my sweeties showed me the local paper with headlines stating that my husband, due to an accident, was confined to his bed with a trained nurse.

Yours for the next train home,

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

NOT so long ago, a man felt that he should offer an alibi for being unwed, after 30. Somehow, he felt that persistent bachelorhood was a reflection on his charms or his income or his sex appeal, and must be defended or "explained."

His constant attitude was apologetic—the "excuse-it-please" attitude.

He would cautiously warn a woman that he was "not a marrying man," or sadly remind her that his heart was "in the grave," or that his duty was to his mother, or that he was wedded to his career. Or, if none of these worked, he would desperately cook up a "secret sorrow" as an alibi for his life of self-determination.

* * *

But all that was in the mellow glamorous days of wing collars and high-cut waistcoats. Now men marry oftener and earlier than ever, but when one of them does manage to hold onto his liberty up to the middle thirties, he glories in his defiance!

* * *

When a modern man does not choose to marry, he simply states coldly, casually, but FINALLY, that he does not "CHOOSE" to marry. And that's THAT!

* * *

It's very illuminating! and it saves a girl a lot of time, effort and disappointment. Because you may entice or persuade a man who does not "want" to marry, or trip one who does not "intend" to marry—but what can you do with one who flatly does not "choose" to marry? You not only can't elect him—you can't even nominate him!

* * *

You may arouse a sense of moral obligation in a less valiant spirit, or lull to sleep the misgivings of a timid soul. You may even bribe a man who thinks he cannot afford to marry.

* * *

But trying to get to the altar a man who does not "choose" to marry is like trying to move the pyramids, or to make a dent in the Rock of Gibraltar by throwing pebbles at it.

There is nothing to do but to let him "bach" it out, until he gets TIRED. It is useless to appeal to his "higher nature" or to try to convince him that it is his duty to his race and his country to sustain the "sacred home and family." It is not even much use to turn on the lure and appeal to his "lower nature" with petting and home cooking.

He will never marry! Never, NEVER—until some determined woman comes along and gets him so tangled up that he can't see where he is going and he finds himself at the altar-rail!

An immovable misogynist always gives way, sooner or later, before the irresistible force of a woman in the marrying mood.

3-MINUTE JOURNEYS

By TEMPLE MANNING.

"AMOK! AMOK!" is the signal for the Malays of the Indian Archipelago to run for their lives. It means that one of their number has temporarily lost control of himself and is on the rampage. Such a condition is, they believe perfectly understandable. Should a man be unfortunate; should he, in so say, lose his wife, or his business, or meet with an accident, he may vent his wrath on all and sundry should he see fit.

And generally he does see fit. With kris (the native dagger) drawn, the madman rushes through the village, bound to kill any man who comes across his path. The villagers, on their part, keeping out of his way to the best of their ability, rush to get their weapons.

This goes on until the madman either drops from utter exhaustion or until he is captured by the local police.

They have a special method of dealing with these half-demented people out there in Malayland. With a weapon specially devised for the purpose, looking like a short-pronged pitchfork of enormous size, he is held against the wall with the tines at his throat. Of course, he dare not move, and it is comparatively easy, while he is in that position to get his kris away from him.

Then he is tried by law, but there are very few of them that live after they have "run amok." For they are generally so badly wounded by others, seeking to protect themselves, during the wild period, that they die.

25 INSURANCE STOCKS AVERAGE UP 72 PER CENT

Stocks of the 25 leading fire and casualty insurance companies are selling at an average price of $550 a share, as compared with an average selling price of $309 a share in January, 1927, and a high of $616 last July according to a survey of the insurance stock market made by Gilbert Elliott & Co.

Between January, 1927, and May, 1928, insurance stocks appreciated on the average about 95 per cent, but later lost 27 per cent of this gain. Such companies as City of New York, Continental, Fidelity Phoenix, Hendon, Northwestern National, St. Paul Fire & Marine, Continental Casualty, Maryland Casualty, Fidelity & Deposit and American Surety show average gains to stockholders of between 50 per cent and 75 per cent per year during this 10-year period, while Globe & Rutgers, Providence-Washington and North River Insurance showed average gains of from 118 per cent to 182 per cent during the same period."

Forms may be obtained at the office of the Receivers, No. 117 Liberty Street, New York City.

Holders of Bond Certificates are urged to use the forms provided by the Receivers as Bond Certificates and proofs of title must be filed together and failure to use the forms provided may result in unnecessary delay.

The receivers are not authorized to make any payments until further order of the Court.

FIND BUSINESS HOLDS UP IN NEW ENGLAND

The Federal Reserve Bank of New England in its survey of the business situation, just issued, says:

"There has been little change in the composite of business conditions in New England during the four months' period April to July, inclusive, and the Index of New England Business Activity fluctuated within a range of slightly more than one per cent. A year ago a similar steadiness was evident between March and August, although the latter was on a level approximately three per cent higher than this year.

"The principal industries of New England indicated a moderately good condition during July, with the exception of the textile group. The production of the cotton goods in July dropped off to the lowest level on record, and the influence of the New Bedford strike was undoubtedly reflected in the curtailed production.

"When allowances for the customary seasonal changes had been made, the index of business activity actually receded in July from June by less than 1 per cent, and was considerably lower than in July a year ago. Improvement in July compared with June was reported in carloadings, residential building, shoe production, and industrial employment, and at the same time recessions occurred in cotton consumption, wool consumption, commercial and industrial failures, and the cotton goods production.

"Although the number of commercial failures in New England during the first seven months of this year was 2 per cent larger than in the corresponding period a year ago, the total liabilities were 23 per cent smaller, while in July the number of failures was 24 per cent under July, 1927, and the liabilities were 44 per cent less.

"Automobile registrations in New England in July were 30 per cent larger than during July a year ago, and the total registrations for the first seven months of this year were 16 per cent ahead of the corresponding seven months' total in 1927.

"Sales volume of New England wholesale shoe concerns in July was less than in June a year ago, and a similar condition was evident among New England wholesale grocery concerns. Sales of New England department stores in July, however, were about 2 per cent larger than July, 1927, and 3 per cent larger for the seven months of 1927."

NEW SEWING MACHINE FOR MENDING "RUNS"

Gotham Silk Hosiery has acquired a new asset of great potential value in its controlling ownership in the new electric sewing machine which automatically mends runs in silk hosiery. The company will receive the benefit through rights to subscribe to stock of the new subsidiary which will be formed to exploit the device, and also indirectly through Gotham's holdings.

It is expected the new subsidiary will have a capital of roughly 1,000,000 shares, of which Gotham Silk Hosiery will own about 850,000, or 85 to 1½ shares for each of the 435,024 shares of Gotham common outstanding.

Most large department stores and other retailers of silk hosiery have service departments for mending silk hosiery at a charge of 25 to 50 cents a pair. This mending is now done by hand by a patented needle, and is a comparatively slow process done by highly paid skilled operators.

Gotham's new machine performs the work more skillfully in a fraction of the time and does not require skilled labor. The company also has at its disposal a darning machine tg mend holes. This will be rented in conjunction with the run-mending device, thus making it possible to render a complete service.

LEVINE, MABEL BOLL AND ACOSTA FLY TO BRUSSELS

London, Aug. 31 (AP)—Charles A. Levine, Mabel Boll and Bert Acosta flew in their plane, the Queen of the Air, to Brussels today, spending the night at the Croydon airdrome. The Air Ministry has not yet granted the fliers permission to use Manston field on the take-off on their proposed flight to America, as Levine requested. Workmen are employed on Croydon field, were trying to get the runway in condition for a take-off there. The trio is expected back from Brussels tonight.

BOSTON & AROOSTOOK STATION IS BURNED

Caribou, Me., Aug. 31—The frame passenger station of the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad was razed by fire with practically all the contents.

The building was blazing fiercely when the fire was discovered. The flames spread to a portion of a store owned by Smith & Beal, which was saved by the fire department, although considerable damage was done. The cause of the fire is a mystery. The loss is estimated at about $12,000.

CONSOLIDATED STORES SHOW JULY INCREASE

Consolidated Retail Stores, Inc., reports sales of wholly-owned subsidiaries for the month ending July 21, 1928 of $89,340 as compared to $587,472 for the same month of last year, an increase of 42.9 per cent.

Sales for the first seven months of 1928 were $9,497,453 as compared to $7,374,182 for the corresponding period of last year, an increase of 28.3 per cent.

TONS OF OLD PAPER SENT TO FAR EAST

Washington, Aug. 31—Old newspapers form a large share of scrap paper shipped to the Orient, reports to the Shipping Board revealed. Los Angeles alone ships approximately 5,000,000 pounds of old papers yearly. They are used in fireworks and novelty manufacture.

Too Hot for Work

Washington, Aug. 31—Virtually all government departments were forced to close at noon Wednesday, as the capital sweltered under a late summer heat wave, the thermometer standing at 92 at noon.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve race among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, it no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defence.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

Mr. Monk Recommends

If You Don't LIKE His Insurance Rates You Can Hire a Lawyer

It appears to be one of our insurance commissioner's misfortunes that he has been unable to convince the automobile owners of Massachusetts that the insurance companies should have the increased rates they demand.

If Mr. Monk were politically wise he would, before announcing tomorrow the 1929 schedule of rates asked for by the insurance companies, give serious thought to at least one of the points raised by Attorney-General Warner.

The Attorney-General, joining the Governor and the Lieutenant-Governor in the suggestion that the commissioner "let the rates stand as they are at present," adds that:

"If any of the insurance companies are injured, experience and observation convincingly disclose the fact that they have competent counsel to protect their rights."

Commissioner Monk, although last week he agreed with Governor Fuller that "the insurance commissioner should represent the public," would take the other way around. HE would place upon the AUTOMOBILE OWNER the burden of proof. In his own words:

"May I be permitted now to point out the time and proper method to pursue, to test the proposition that the proposed rates are improper and invalid.

"After the filing of the memorandum of my finding and order in my office, fixing these rates, any party in interest may, within 20 days, petition the Supreme Judicial Court for the County of Suffolk for a review of the rates by that court. A special order of the court may be obtained upon motion or petition suspending the operation of the rate schedule and the court is required to review all questions of fact and law and is empowered to make any appropriate decrees modifying, amending, annulling, reversing or affirming my official orders or acts.

"If this course is followed, I will make no objection to the issuance of such a special order, but upon the merits of the question as to whether I have acted in accordance with the law and the facts in establishing these rates I shall expect to be heard."

The commissioner takes the "wrong slant." If he does agree with Governor Fuller, that the "insurance commissioner should represent the public," we fail to sense the spirit of that agreement in the above outline of How to Have the New Rates Set Aside.

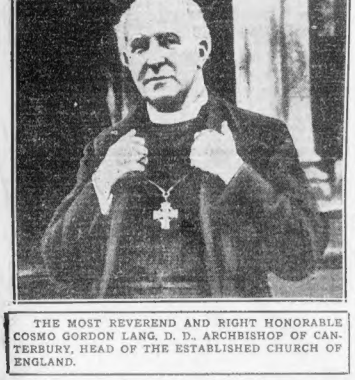
Mr. Monk would jump the rates, making the insurance companies very, very happy, and let the automobile owner hire a lawyer.

The Attorney-General would let the 1928 rates stand and let the insurance companies do the fighting.

We are not going to insult your intelligence by asking which of these public servants comes the nearer to meeting your conception of what the public servant should be.

Archbishop of Canterbury

Head of the Church of England



THE MOST REVEREND AND RIGHT HONORABLE COSMO GORDON LANG, D. D., ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY, HEAD OF THE ESTABLISHED CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

This picture will interest all Episcopalians and many others.

It shows the costume worn by the new head of the established British Church.

The new Archbishop succeeded Dr. Randall Davidson, who resigned because the new prayer book was rejected by the Commons. He is an earnest, able man, a profound scholar.

Son of a clergyman, he went first to Glasgow University, then to Cambridge, and at the end of his first term won a scholarship at Balliol, Oxford. You may not know it, but that is a great honor—in England. He became president of The Union, took a "first in history," and was elected a Fellow of All Souls. Much honor in all that.

At first he studied to be a lawyer, but changed his mind and was ordained.

The new Archbishop of Canterbury was for twenty years Archbishop of York. He preached in this country and in Canada during the war. His expression indicates a sense of humor and much good nature. He is popular with working classes in Britain.

This picture is interesting because the bitter discussion about a new prayer book has raised a suggestion that the Church of England be disestablished. That means that bishops should no longer sit in the House of Lords, and the Government would no longer pay for the bishops' palaces, salaries, etc.

Seeing America First

By O. O. McINTYRE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31—Los Angeles leads the world in sundry stunt cafes and trick eating places. They are built in every fantastical and baroque shape imaginable. Some serve excellent food and others are the sort requiring plentiful bi-carbonate in the first aid kit.

One of the popular places is actually known as Romaine Tommy's. Far out on Wilshire boulevard there is a two-mile stretch of chicken dinner places—prices ranging from 75 cents to $1.50—and served on paper plates. And, of course, Los Angeles is the cafetaria capital of the world.

There are eating hutches fashioned like oil cans. Eskimo igloos, cliff dwellers caves to which you mount on ladders, jails where you sit in cells to be served by waiters in striped, ball pens with matador waiters and immense dolls with tables inside their flaring skirts.

Near Pasadena is a giant replica of the old shoe in which the Old Lady lived, and one would imagine the menu includes filet of sole and shoestring potatoes. Burbank has a cluster of mushrooms spring up over night with eating places underneath. They are white and glisten in the sun like Turkish mosques.

Across from the Ambassador is the Brown Derby, specializing in steaks. It is as much of a democratic institution as Al Smith's Benny. On Ventura boulevard are cafes done in jungle style. Hats and roof are of tropical straw. The cooking is plain Zulu—served we imagine "hut." Ouch!

Scattered over town are numerous ice cream freezers and cones. The handles of the freezers revolve with a steady rhythm. Icebergs of paper mache lift their cool pinnacles along hot highways. Then there is a lighthouse whose beacon—or perhaps bacon—attracts the hungry.

Some of the names are amusing. One bears the appetizing appelation of The Fly Inn. Then there are The White Spot, The Monkey Den, The Hemirex, Mammy's Shack, The Quick and Dirty, Hamburger Hank's, Takea-Chance and a few others with names certainly not calculated to whoop up the appetite.

DRUG stores, cafes and hair dressing parlors give away chances on automobiles. Indeed you get a chance on an auto for practically each purchase, save false teeth. You even take a chance on automobiles every time you skip the gutter.

AND trick motor horns here rival the cafes. They squeak, screech, bay like calliopes, ring like bells, tweet like birds, roar like lions and a few resemble a magnified eructation, which is the doctor's term for the social error of belching.

ONE of the joys the rising generation here misses is hopping on the tail end of an ice wagon. And personally I could never run a temperature over a Christmas without a little snow.

MID-SUMMER days are like early May in New York. The nights are cold enough for heavy cover. Street pedlars hawk a blanket made of virgin wool known hereabouts as 'slumber throws."

THERE is a truck parked in front of most of the big hospitals, loaded with rather weary looking flowers for sale. Visitors buy an armload on their way in for a quarter. Flowers are as cheap as taxis in Paris. Today I purchased a dozen of the most beautiful dahlias ever beheld for $1.50. It is an ace spot for romantic young men who are girling.

TODAY we motored to Riverside, that picturesque town of temple bells and mission architecture. The community produces a sort of pleasant melancholy like the sad sweet notes of a muted violin. There is an inclination to converse in whispers and walk as though treading on holy ground. It is world famous for its Mission Inn.

A GENTLEMAN who had evidently taken an overdose of tittenpowders dropped in this evening to bestow a pump-handle handshake. "When I have a day off," he said, "I just go around welcoming strangers to the city."

With Our Money

How Public Opinion Is Influenced for Private Gain

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, told the Montana Bar Association something about the propaganda uncovered in the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the Power Trust. He said:

"The portentous movement of which the Commission through its hearings gives reliable information is a new development in American life.

"It may have had its prototypes, but nothing approaching it in magnitude, in perfection of organization or in the means commanded for influencing public opinion for private gain is known to our history or probably to that of any other country."

Senator Walsh might have said that the vast sums annually used by these public utility organizations "for influencing public opinion for private gain" are furnished by us, the consumers of the country.

This propaganda work is considered a legitimate operating expense by the Public Service Commissions which "regulate" the utilities.

In other words, the utilities are allowed to collect our money and use it to corrupt our sources of information, press and schools.

The New Voter

Will He Meet This Test?

There will be 8,000,000 possible new voters this year.

The measure of our progress will be shown by the number who cast their first ballot on the basis of independent thinking rather than on prejudice or emotion.

PERSONALITY AND THE LABOR UNION

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THERE is no doubt that labor unions on the whole are successful.

Of course they make mistakes, as they are composed of human beings, but no one who has followed the labor movement can doubt that the condition of laboring men is better because of them.

There is no reason in the world why men should not work together to secure better labor conditions and a higher wage. If this work is in the open and is carried on without violence, no sane man would object to it.

Concentration is the order of the day. Its advantages are multifold and are too manifest to be doubted. The rise of the trusts and combinations in capital show that business can be carried on much better in a big way than in a little way. In the end the consumer is benefited, for he gets his goods cheaper and better.

But there is danger in a capitalistic organization when it is against labor, and in a labor organization when it is against capital.

Class consciousness is harmful when it is injected into an economic dispute. Domination by any class, whether of capitalists or laborers, would be unfortunate.

The Central Conference of American Rabbis recently adopted resolutions on the labor problem which are sound.

"The solution of the ills which beset our social order," the conference declared, "is to be found not in any class-conscious struggle, but in the triumph of sound humanitarian principles which regard mankind as one. No materialistic philosophy can solve these problems. The mechanization of our present age and the building of large industries employing thousands of workers have led to the custom of regarding labor as a mass in which the personality is lost. We can not sanction this practice which tends more and more to treat labor only as an instrument. Machinery and industry exist for men, and not men for them."

Fortunately in America class consciousness is not so prevalent. The doors between the classes are too open for any class to remain fixed. Laborers can too often become capitalists in this country and capitalists laborers for communism and socialism to take root deeply in this soil.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

A GALLANT LIP STICK

ONE who signs herself "A Lady" wants me to write an article against the coarse, crude, unrefined young women who use make-up. And the demon urge that probably prompts this vulgar habit. I hasten to oblige. I shall write an article and, as I write it, I shall think of Mamie.

Mamie works in my office on the switchboard. She is thirty-six years old. She had a husband once in her career, but he was lost somewhere in the shuffle. She has one child—a crippled boy of fifteen. When he was five, Mamie's boy had infantile paralysis. It left him with a terribly twisted body and certain complications which cause frequent intervals of agony.

It is possible to do something to alleviate such agony if you have plenty of money. You can hire great specialists, trained attendants. You can furnish lovely rooms, and fill them with flowers and toys and music. You can also do something for the agony in your own heart. If you have plenty of money. You can, for example, get a good night's sleep. And enough to eat. And go easily though the day, unannoyed by scores of peevish voices and rasping spirits.

It is not possible to do these things, however, if you are supporting yourself and your only boy on the wage of a switchboard operator. You must live in a small, dark apartment and work all three shifts yourself. There are many nights when you cannot sleep at all, but must watch a racked face and thin hands twitch and twitch in the damp, quivering of torture.

Mornings are not very gay affairs after nights like that. Particularly if you are minding on eggs and fruit so the boy can have chicken broth. And Mamie has nights like that. She has had them for ten years and she knows that her only release from them will be by death. Yet you'd never suspect it to see her in the morning.

Mamie, I regret to say, is one of those unrefined, vulgar persons to whom my lady correspondent alludes with such horror. Mamie uses make-up. And how! During those nights I suspect that Mamie's face grows as green with anguish as her boy's. But when she snaps into her seat before the switchboard it has a sunkissed duco finish that would drive a magnolia wild with envy. I also suspect that tears frequently gather in pools beneath Mamie's eyes—in those hollows that a thick, juicy beefsteak might help. But oh you mascaras, the morning after. And one's lips—seven lbs life of a coarse, crude modern female—must grow gray watching a little twisted body writhe in pain. But you'd never guess it; when Mamie gets through with lipstick. For over that grayness she paints a smile that has never come off in the seven years I've known her.

This isn't the story of just Mamie. It is the story of thousands of girls and women whom I meet in my working life. It is the story of all of us who cannot afford to sit at home and be ladies but must paint on our smile, regardless of what lies beneath, and go out and face the world.

I'm offering this story as a defense. Perhaps we are a vulgar lot. Perhaps it would be more refined to publish our agony to the world and sit around telling how many operations we've had. And maybe the nice, refined ladies who criticize have it all over us coarse hussies. If so, I've no time to argue the point. I have merely told you the inside facts concerning one lipstick. And I simply remark in passing that to me it seems that a lipstick may, at times, be as gallant as a cross.
